

Kitty Hawk Blonde Ale

Here's your chance to pick up a beach blonde. This blonde has a British accent and an all-American attitude. Clean crisp flavor, light color and great balance between hops and malt.

Truly a drinkable beer. We start with the finest barley from counties Munster and Leinster, Ireland. We use British Challenger hops for a full bodied rounded bitterness and finish with American Crystal hops for a hint of citrus. 4.4% Abv 19 IBU

Raleigh Buxton Brown

A beer brewed in tribute to the great explorer, poet, spy and sea dog, Sir Walter Raleigh.

Buxton Brown ale has a deep mahogany color and a rich, malt forward flavor profile. With notes of biscuit, mild cocoa and earthy hops. A creamy mouthfeel and full body enhances its drinkability. Raleigh Brown Ale is an extremely sessional ale that embodies all the characteristics of the great British brewing tradition. 4.9% Abv 30 IBU

Hatteras Red

In 1700 the "Hatteras Witch" was tied to a tree, destined to be burnt alive. With a clap of thunder and a flash of lightning she disappeared leaving only her name, Cora, scorched into the trunk of that tree. You can still see it today. A woman like that deserves a beer. This, our original red ale, is a blend of mild English hops, sweet Irish malts and roasted barley. Hatteras Red is a ruby session ale with a gentle hop bitterness, mild malt notes and a bewitching hint of roast. 4.9% Abv 22 IBU

Holy Hand Grenade of Antioch Imperial Stout

Produced in the tradition of 18th Century English brewers who supplied the court of Catherine the Great. Because it was transported across the freezing Baltic, Russian imperial stouts were brewed with a high level of alcohol. A huge malt body is matched to a heady blend of chocolate, dark fruits, and other aromas. It's a rich, intense brew with vicious little teeth. 9% ABV 46 IBU

Nags Head IPA

British IPA's were never meant to be clown cars for hops. Steeped in lore (and extra hops) the IPA is a stronger version of a pale ale. First brewed in England and exported for the British troops in India during the late 1700s. The added hops and alcohol helped the beer survive the journey. Our English style IPA is characterized by British hop character (earthy, floral) and increased, not doubled, alcohol content. Different from its American counterpart, this beer does not neglect its barley soul while increasing its hop flavor. 5.5% Abv 53 IBU

Stumpy Point Wheat Ale

The British never brewed a wheat beer but if they did it would taste like this. Light, refreshing with none of that continental clove nonsense nor American hop cheekiness. Just clean wheat flavors with British malt hops and an air of superiority. 4.2 % abv 28 ibu

Kill Devil Hills Scotch Ale

In the mid 1700's, along the Carolina coast, they made rum that was so strong it was said that "it could kill the devil". They named a town after it. We named a beer after it.

Scotch ale, also known as "Wee Heavy", is the name given to a strong pale ale style from Edinburgh. It is overwhelmingly malty, with a rich and dominant sweet malt flavor and aroma. Scotch Ale brings forth visions of fog-filled bogs, dimly lit pubs and a hearty pint of ale. 8% ABV 21 IBU

Charon Stout

Named after the legendary ferry man who traversed the river Styx, our very traditional dry Irish stout will transport you to a different world. We use malt from the Malting Company of Ireland, traditional fuggle hops and Dublin water to brew the quintessential Irish beer. 4.8% Abv 35 BU
